

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A server having the function of categorizing permission setting values indicating whether object information items of various attribute of a registered user are disclosable to other persons or not depending on a level of the disclosability, and managing the permission setting values hierarchically.